Architectural Interior Designer

SUMMARY

Architectural Interior Designer graduating from the Inchbald School of Design with a deeply held belief that the most compelling spaces are built on story telling and human experience - shaping how a room is entered, felt and remembered. With a strong professional background in hospitality, I bring a blend of creative vision and lived understanding of what makes a guest feel truly at home in my designs. I design with emotion first and aesthetic second, and am drawn to luxury residential and hospitality projects where the finest details matter most.

WORK EXPERIENCE

GODDARD LITTLEFAIR

Interior Design Intern (April 2026)

I completed a work experience placement at the award-winning interior design studio Goddard Littlefair, a leading name in high-end luxury hospitality design. Based at their London offices, I gained valuable hands-on experience within a world-class design environment, contributing to a range of studio activities. These included assembling and presenting material boards, developing mood boards, and liaising with premium luxury brand suppliers throughout the material selection process. I also had the opportunity to observe client meetings with hotel developers and contributed to the production of Photoshop renders for client presentations.
